routes in New Jersey. Ponnsylvania, Maryland, and Ohio.

Extract from the act of Congress of 3d March, 1845, section 18.

"2nd be it further enacted. That it shall be the duty of the Postmaster General, in all future lettings of contracts for the transportation of the mail, to let the same in every case to the lowest bidder tendering sufficient guarantees for faithful performance, without other reference to the mode of such transportation than may be necessary to provide for the due celerity, certainty, and security of such transportation; nor shall any new contractor hereafter be required to purchase out, or take at a valuation, the stock or vehicles of any previous contractor for the same route."

12 Bidders will be careful to read the forms and instructions appended to this advertisement. They are requested to state, in their proposals, the mode by which they intend to convey the mail. Where the size and weight of the mails, or the speed called for in the schedules, shall require it, the contracts will be made for coach, steamboat, or rail-road conveyance, as the case may be; and, consequently, such routes will be let to bids proposing such mode of conveyance. In all other cases, the routes will be assigned to bids proposing the cheapest modes of transportation.

PROPOSALS BY LITTLE & BROWN

THE LIFE AND WORKS OF JOHN ADAMS,

THE LIFE AND WORKS OF JOHN ADAMS,

Second President of the United States,

EDITED BY HIS GRANDSON, CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS.

THE public will be glad to learn that the publication of the works of John Adams, as long delayed, will now be commenced as soon as an adequate subscription shall have been obtained. It is intended to embrace, in the proposed collection, the works of Mr. Adams on Government already published, but now out of print, and a selection from a most voluminous mass of manuscripts which have never seen the light.

The collection is to be made and edited by the Hon. Charles Francis Adams, the depositary of all the manuscripts as well of John Adams as of his father, the late John Quincy Adams; and is intended as the first of two great publications, clucidating the History of the Kies and Progress of these United States, from the year 1761, in which the revolutionary struggle first began, down to the year 1848, when the younger Adams died.

The materials for the first of the two works are much more ample than has generally been supposed. John Adams, during nearly all his life, scrupulously preserved his papers, and among them are found many of a curious and singularly interesting character. Probably the most cemarkable, at least in the eyes of the world, will prove to be a Diary, commenced by him as early as 1755, and carried on for thirty years, including the largest portion of his public career. This Diary will be found to contain a great amount of valuable matter connected with the early movements of the devolution in Massachusetts, and to throw a good deal of new light upon the proceedings of the great Congresses of 1774, 1775, and 1776, at Philadelphia, in which the writer was a conspicuous actor. There are also notes of the devolution a portion of that period, which, in the dearth of all knowledge of them, will be highly valuable to posterity.

It is well known that an intention was long entertained

Congresses of 1774, 1775, and 1776, at Philadelphia, in which the writer was a conspicuous actor. There are also notes of the debates during a portion of that period, which, in the dearth of all knowledge of them, will be highly valuable to posterity.

It is well known that an intention was long entertained by the younger Mr. Adams to write a memoir of his father. This, although not entirely executed, was commenced. A most intere ring fragment remains in a perfect state, and will be prefixed to the present publication. The unexecuted portion will be carried on by the editor, aided by the discovery of an autobiographical fragment of John Adams himself, which will be woren into the body of his work.

The great difficulty will be in the abundance of the materials to be gathered out of a correspondence carried on for half a century, as well as out of unpublished treatises of various kinds, rather to bring them all within reasonable limits for purchasers, than to come short of what will interest the students of the national history.

It is proposed to issue the work in ten octavo volumes. These will include the essay on the canon and feudal law, the defence of the American constitution, the various editions of which have been long since exhausted, and the discourses on Davila, to all of which libratations, drawn from the unpublished writings of Mr. Adams, or supplied by the editor from other sources, will be added.

Such selections will be made from the Diary, and from the private papers, as may be considered most likely to promote a better acquaintance with the times in which Mr. Adams lived, that surpasses in historical and political value the volumes now direrd to the revolutionary history of the United States, and indeed of the times in which Mr. Adams lived, that surpasses in historical and political value the volumes now direrd to the patronage of the American people. And they strongly hope that they shall find themselves so well sustained in this great enterprise as to be encouraged to go on and perfect the o

Circular to Registers and Receivers.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, February 21, 1849.

TREASURY DEFARTMENT, February 21, 1849.

A QUESTION of much importance has arisen in a relation to Mexican war bounty land warrants that may be located by bona fide purchasers.

First.—Where a warrant is forged.
Second.—Where the assignment or transfer is forged. Third.—Where the power of attorney is forged.

Soveral cases of this description having been presented to the consideration of the Commissioner of the General Land Office, he informs me that in his judgment they are null and void, and that the land covered by such locations remains the property of the United States, in which view this department fully concurs. In order, therefore, to induce greater caution upon the part of purchasers, yon will please to show this circular to all persons proposing to make locations with Mexican war bounty land warrants, and cause a copy of these instructions to be posted in the most public position in your office. As these forgeries are believed to be augmenting in number, this notice is deemed necessary for the protection of the interests of the government and the people.

EVERY person holding any bonds, promissory notes, other evidences of debt against Texas, must forward the complete of public accounts. At other evidences of debt against Texas, must forward the same to the auditor and comptroller of public accounts of the State of Texas, on or before the second Monday of November, 1849, or they will be postponed or barred. It will not do to forward copies. The original bonds, notes, &c., must be forwarded, in accordance with a law of the legislature of Texas, approved March 20, 1848—(See advertisement in Daily Union.) As individuals do not feel willing to run the risk of sending their bonds, &c., by mail, and as I am continually receiving letters inquiring how the writers can get their evidences of debt to the proper officers of Texas, I have determined to act as agent in regard to the debt, to receipt to individuals for the amount deposited with me, to take on the claims to the city of Austin, and procure the necessary receipts for the owners. I can be found at Browns' Hotel, Washington city, until the adjournment of Congress.
